The Class of 1954

South Windsor, Connecticut

MR. HAROLD F. KIBBE B.S. Teachers College of Conn.

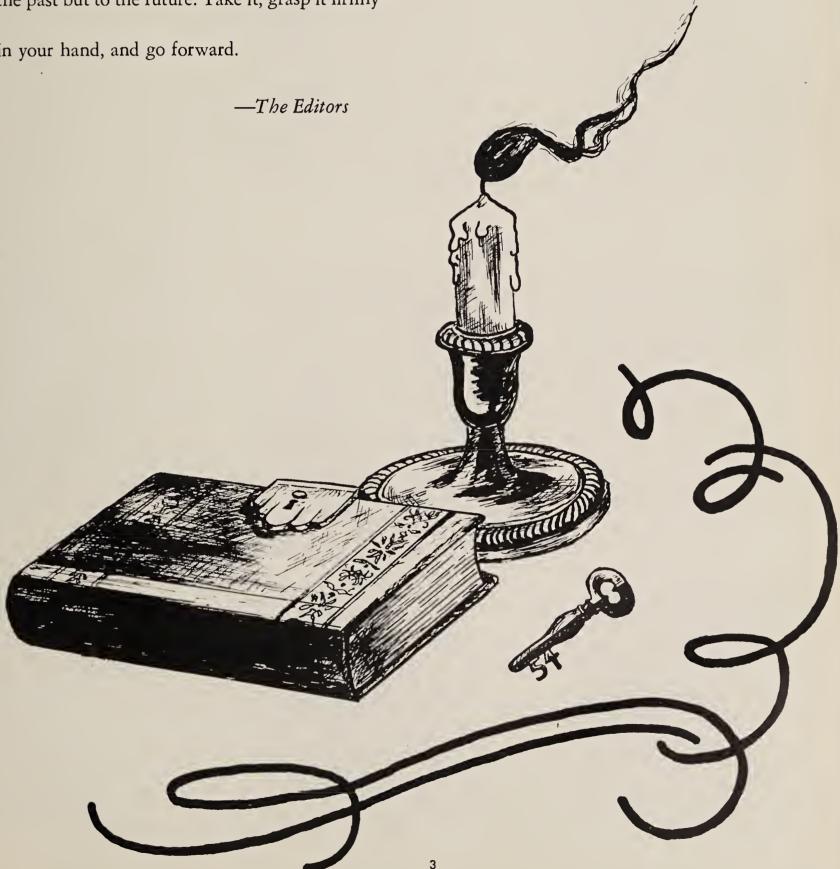

Friendliness, enthusiasm, and untiring help — for these we dedicate the 1954 Ellsworthian to you — Mr. Harold Kibbe.

Dedication

It was just four short years ago that we first walked the halls of Ellsworth. Since that time we have shared many experiences. As you turn these pages, we hope that you will reminisce.

We have tried to give you the key not only to the past but to the future. Take it, grasp it firmly in your hand, and go forward.

Phelps Corner
Warehouse Point, Connecticut
June 1, 1954

Dear Ellsworth,

How we must have looked on that warm, sunny day, September 9, 1953, as we returned for our fourth and final year with you! I guess none of us, not even you, realized what a year it would be. We were seniors — proud, happy, very much a part of Ellsworth, and also very conscious of our position.

It didn't take us long to show you we were ready to take over the leadership for which you had been training us. Our first task was to elect our class officers. We did this conscientiously. Isn't it meaningful that we elected four people that had each served in leading class positions in previous years? As president of our class and at the same time president of the Student Council, we chose Jack Christensen. Jack was also the top man during our junior year when he served with the other junior officers, vice-president, Ted Reichle; secretary, Jacqueline Daly; and treasurer, Ann Parent.

The remaining senior class leaders were Robert Albert, vice-president; Carol Greer, secretary; and Charles White, treasurer. The names of Carol and Charles appear among our underclass officers. Our freshman slate consisted of Lee Bahler, president; Oliver Pelton, vice-president; Dorothy Norton, secretary; and Charles White, treasurer; while our sophomore leaders were Jean Harrison as president; Lee Bahler, vice-president; Carol Greer, secretary; and Charles White, treasurer.

Will you ever forget the Senior Get-Together we gave this year? At the time we thought our World Series themed party would be the last school party the Class of 1954 would sponsor. With a long background of party-giving and Ted Reichle as general chairman, it turned into quite an affair.

Of course, we had already given three parties and one prom in our days with you. There was that first party we gave for the sophomores during our freshman year — the theme was Hawaiian, wasn't it? The following year, as sophisticated sophs, we gave a party for incoming frosh. That was the Jungle Jamboree.

In our junior year we showed you we liked party-going, didn't we, Ellsworth? On November 7 we gave you a Fall Dance complete with an orchestra. It was Ted Reichle at the helm also for this social high-spot.

Will any of us ever forget our Junior Prom? Elsie Pelton and Ted Reichle put their combined abilities together to give us a dreamy Spanish evening. We were all carried off to dreamland as we danced to Earl Mitchell's orchestra from eight to twelve on May 12 of 1953. Then we chose our queen and her attendants — the radiant Jean Harrison with glowing attendants Elsie Pelton and Janet Stone. No, we'll never forget.

We all know now that the Senior Get-together wasn't our last school party. We gave another dance in February of this year. Remember? Elsie Pelton was the chairman that time. Again we showed our willingness to give you a good share of social life, Ellsworth.

How did you feel the day our magazine campaign ended? You must have been proud! We were all so happy. None of us had dreamed of topping last year's total by $1062.70 with a total of $5518.35 worth of sales.

The party that followed was another happy affair. It was Elsie Pelton, captain of the orange team, who chairmanned the party given for Ted Reichle's winning green team.

What a happy quartet went to New York with Mr. Davis as a special prize! Ted Reichle and Janet Webster, the green team captain and secretary, went with Ray Dumez and Yvette Cote — the two lucky people whose names were drawn to receive this prize!

This magazine drive told us who were the top salesmen in our class. Remember when Norma Pola, Jean Harrison, and Oliver Pelton walked away with the prizes? The ladies took their choice that time!

Music, music, music — yes, among other things we were musical, too. Always ready to provide entertainment at parties or assemblies — that was the Class of '54.

History

Our musical talents went beyond the limits of your walls, E.M.H.S. We sent representatives to the All-State Music Festival in all but our freshman year. As sophomores we sent Dick Lyman for the chorus and Lorraine McClatchey for the band and orchestra. A year later Jack Christensen represented us in the orchestra and Elsie Pelton in the chorus. The following year Elsie returned for the chorus with Lee Bahler as our second representative in our senior year.

Speaking of state representatives, of course, we sent a worthy delegation to represent our school at Laurel and Nutmeg States. Jean Harrison, Lorraine McClatchey, and Carol Greer attended Girls' State, and all returned singing its praises and taking their places in student government at Ellsworth. Our Nutmeg State representative, Jack Christensen, also returned to the worthy position of senior class president after attending Boys' State.

Did the experimental journalism class of 1950-1951, our freshman year, yield many writers? As we look over the South Winds and Ellsworthian staffs, a few names appear. In our junior year Jean Harrison, one of the members of that freshman class, was chosen editor of the school newspaper. Other members in our class who became successful South Winds members were Dorothy Norton, business manager; Claire Stolle, chief typist; and Ted Reichle, sports editor. By the way, Jean Harrison, Norma Pola, Kathryn McCutcheon, and Ted Reichle made up the editorial board, a truly honorable position. Yes, we were writers, too!

The Ellsworthian staff was topped by Kathryn McCutcheon, editor, who worked long and hard with the other staff members to turn out a yearbook of which to be proud. Kathryn, who was another freshman journalism student, was also your Parade of Youth correspondent, Ellsworth.

Elsie Pelton could well be tagged our S.C.H.E. leader. Of course, Betty Gilbert, Lorraine McClatchey, and Janet Webster also held offices in that club, but it was Elsie who was chosen vice-president in her junior year and who automatically became president this year.

In the Hi-Y Club it was Oliver Pelton who was at the helm. He was vice-president during his junior year which lead to his being president in his final year. Dale Moore and Ray Hallowell also held offices in the Hi-Y. These boys were among the leaders of the group of boys from our class who were members of this club.

Janet Stone, Ann Parent, Liz McGill, and Dotty Norton donned the cheering uniforms and went out to cheer our boys on. Yes, we were there for the sports events, weren't we, Ellsworth? You'll remember Ted Reichle, Dale Moore, Bob Sedar, Anthony Raulukaitis, Go-Go Snow, Ron Burnham, and many others in your Ellsworth Hall of Fame.

And we didn't leave it just up to the boys. The ladies shone forth in fine style with Norma Pola, Lorraine McClatchey, Jacquie Daly, and others leading the girls' basketball team in many a victory.

Oh, Ellsworth, how we have changed! No longer scared little insignificant freshman, we have grown to competent Ellsworth leaders. It was grand to be sophomores, even better to be juniors, but nothing can be better than being an Ellsworth senior.

The Class of 1954 owes you thanks, Ellsworth, for letting us spend our last year with you with the cafeteria for a homeroom. At first we didn't like the idea, but gradually—through leadership in school drives and other activities—the cafeteria became a very special place. Thank you for changing us from small groups of underclassmen to one big happy family of seniors. We thank you for our cafe.

The years have certainly flown, and now our days with you are ending. We face the challenge of a fast moving world with your lesson behind us. With hopes and dreams we leave, but there will always be the memories. "Thus endeth our first lesson." Good-bye, Ellsworth!

Class

In the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fifty-four, we, the Senior Class of Ellsworth Memorial High School, located in East Windsor Hill, Connecticut, do hereby sadly bequeath our Last Will and Testament to our teachers and inferior classmates.

We feel it our privileged duty to leave our outstanding traits in order that Ellsworth may remain in the superlative condition that we, the Class of '54, are leaving it.

To our untiring but senile faculty we do hereby leave — so that they can once again enjoy the serenity of the Ellsworth classrooms and halls.

To the inexperienced F. S. of E. (Future Seniors of Ellsworth; namely, the juniors) we leave the title of "High and Exalted Seniors." We do solemnly bestow this honor upon you, in the trust that you will hold this appellation in deep reverence.

The unrefined sophomores are the recipients of the departing Senior class' dignity. We relinquish this distinguished quality upon you, as we deem it necessary that you have some dignity in being the hosts at the next Junior Prom.

To our unrestrained, unruly, undignified, disrespectful, unbalanced, unnecessary, and underprivileged freshmen, we leave the right to remove the prefixes from these words so you may now be known as restrained, ruly, dignified, respectful, balanced, necessary and privileged sophomores.

To anyone with patience, leadership, and a strong hand, Jack Christensen wills his gavel. Make sure you use it for conducting those sacred senior class meetings only.

The position of class marshals now held by Carol Greer and Jean Harrison is surrendered to two high ranking juniors.

Robert "Bookie Bob" Albert gives up his strange money making habits to William Schortman. A little black book isn't too noticeable, Billy.

Doris Marks leaves her love for high altitude to Janet Boynton. How's the weather up there, Janet?

Claire Stolle and Ronald Burnham surrender their dancing ability to Carol Kerkins and Dick Birch. Remember, cheek to cheek dancing is strictly forbidden.

William Allen donates his mischievous pranks to Peter Files. No gum on the teacher's seat, Pete!

Elsie Pelton bequeaths her undying love for animals, especially steers, to Barabara Griffin. Don't let them throw you, Barbara.

Nancy Page, with tears in her eyes and a great big sigh, entrusts her file of shorthand papers to Rose Picolla. Do you think you can top Nancy's ability, Rose? She was an "E" student.

James Reardon bestows his record high of being sent to the office to anyone who can surpass our boy, Jim.

Dorothy Bancroft wills her pleasing tone of voice to Mary Barnes. Always keep a box of throat lozenges on hand, Mary.

Michael Dzen lends his ability to enter the school parking lot on two wheels to Ray Maher. "The Art of Driving On Two Wheels" is Mike's latest novel, Ray. Be sure to read it with care.

James Howard drops in the lap of Joe Krawski his unpleasant task of transporting the girls to and from the away games. "Can I come, Joe?"

Gordon Snow bequeaths his large build to Joseph Golden. Charles Atlas' ten-minutes-a-day course did wonders for Go-Go.

Raymond Dumez wills his size thirteen shoes to Gary Mercier. Going swimming, Gary?

James Barry considerately donates to Caroline Bancroft his motorcycle. Now you can't use the absence excuse that it was too cold to walk to school, Caroline.

Joan Myers is the recipient of Lorraine McClatchey's many musical talents. Jimmy Dorsey has nothing on our Lorraine, Joan.

The record for taking three English courses in one year is now held by Raymond Jarvis, who would gladly bestow his talent upon anyone with his initiative and determination.

Anthony Raulukaitis, after much consideration, concluded that a particular freshman was in dire need of his lengthy legs. It is with deep reverence that Anthony bestows his legs upon David Prior.

John Malin is the recipient of Peter Zaleski's yearly seat in Mr. Olsen's classes. Special rates for the four-year plan, John.

Jacqueline Daly bestows upon Carolyn La Pierre her proficiency in talking her way out of embarrassing situations. Use this skill only when you have to, Carolyn. There's a limit, Jacquie says.

Audrey Kreyssig leaves her ability to speak rather fast to Miss Mohn. You should now be able to give English assignments in ten seconds, Miss Mohn. A new record?

To Harvey Della Bernarda, Dale Moore entrusts his knuckle ball. Pitching is quite an art, Harvey.

With pitchfork in hand, Norma Pola happily gives up her annual hayrides to Betsy Bond. Two hundred couples per wagon is the limit, Betsy.

Donald Havens donates his Manchester telephone numbers to James Enright; that is, all except Mitchell 4-1200. Don reserves that one for himself.

To Dick Whitehouse and Jonathan Hoskins is left the bashfulness of Janet Clifton and Annette Carter. Don't let the Ellsworth girls frighten you, boys.

Carmine Jovino's nickname "Tiny" is willed to Miles Grant. Tiny read Giants of the Earth to console himself, Miles.

Will

Shirley Petraitis relinquishes her nineteen pen pals to any gal with lots and lots of time and a full pen.

Interior decoration is Richard Lyman's specialty. With much regret he bestows his talent upon Ann Barry. Dick's aim is to redecorate the White House; what's yours, Ann?

Rita Matulis and Doris Pinney bequeath their job as baby sitters to Norman and Lenney Anderson. You've no idea what fun you've missed, boys!

Ronald Yelle sadly leaves his warm smile to Nancy Badstubner. Remember, Nancy, "A smile a day keeps the enemy away."

Kathryn McCutcheon remorsefully drops her position as Editor-In-Chief of the Ellsworthian to any brave soul who has no love for sleep, but does have energy and long fingernails.

Ann Parent surrenders her gum in room 24's waste-basket to Mr. Driscoll. Don't let it get in your hair, Jim!

Richard Hensel cheerfully entrusts his tennis racket to Marcia Adams. Don't try to use the tennis racket for ping pong, Marcia.

Elizabeth Donahue relinquishes her summer position at Travelers to Laura Pasqualini. Not quite so backbreaking as picking strawberries, right, Laura?

Janet Webster leaves her daily post under the stairs as ticket seller to any junior girl who has no fear of getting ulcers from eating between sales.

Gordon Schortman entrusts his love of mechanics to Ray Zagorski. While you're at it, Ray, you may as well lubricate the chassis and grease the oil.

Shirley Barbrick is the recipient of Elizabeth Allen's pleasant smile. Betty says, "Smile and be happy."

Elizabeth Gilbert's neatness in dress is left to her sister, Marie. Remember, no dungarees at school next year!

Mildred Andrulat leaves her quiet personality to Irene Stozus. This quality comes in real handy when in the library.

Robert Sedar wills his skill in making set shots to Jack Rose. Bob's record is seven from half court. Seven come eleven if you try hard, Jack.

With tears in his eyes Charles White sadly surrenders his trig. book to Mr. Sanford. Charlie is still trying to find out how to square a circle.

Kathleen Holland gives up her love for horses to Judy Daly, so long as Judy promises not to give Kathy competition in next years "Miss Cowpoke USA" contest.

Raymond Hallowell bestows upon Cornelius Dollak his-curly hair. That isn't a Toni nor a phony either, Corney.

Theodore Reichle leaves his versatility to Gary Donihee. Ted excels in studies as well as sports, Gary.

Dorothy Norton and Elizabeth McGill will their cheerleading ability to Betty Ann Ahern. Remember, Betty, practice makes perfect.

Bob Spielman is left with Alden Collin's position as transportation chairman for all class socials. Can you get special rates too, Bob?

It is with moist eyes that Charles Dengler surrenders his position as East Windsor's most dignified senior to Peter Luchina — a position to hold in high esteem, Pete. Can you do as well as Charlie?

Yvette Cote and Edna Weber donated their artistic skills to the 1954 Ellsworthian. We challenge any one to surpass their contributions.

Peter Harrison is to receive Zigmond Rolocut's shyness. Silence is golden, Peter.

Mary Ellen Booth's petiteness is entrusted to Frances Setsky. Ellen's secret, Franie, is a bread and root beer diet.

Claudette Begin lends her fluent French phrases to Jeannette Cote. Now you haven't any excuse to refuse the U.N. when they are in need of French interpreters.

Bette Ann Loos bestows upon Judy Woodmansee her quiet, surpassive, blue eyes. Are those the dreamy type, Judy?

Jeanne Harrison is to receive Robert Sinsigalli's sophisticated manners. Etta Kett is Bob's best friend.

Joseph Chester wills his reserved lab. drawer in room 34 to Albert Shaefer. Remember, Bunson Burners are best!

Virginia Ellsworth and Patricia Krupienski bequeath their roller skating ability to Esther Joseph and Connie Dollak. Riverside has the softest floor, girls.

Alex Sullivan LEAVES ——— and in a hurry.

Janet Stone bequeaths her ability as an actress upon Sue Ordway. You must first begin with enunciation, Sue, "How now, brown cow?"

Oliver Pelton with much anguish bequeaths his ability to get red in the face to Chet Drangenis. Embarrassing moments are unavoidable, Chet.

We do hereby affix our signatures upon this sacred document in the trust that our last wishes will be full-filled with utmost reverence to us the Class of nineteen hundred and fifty-four.

AT LAST!

Scene — Ronnie's Night Spot, South Windsor. Elsie is sitting at a table. Bob enters; noticing her, he sits at the same one.

Bob — Aren't you Elsie Pelton, graduate of the Class of '54 at Ellsworth High?

Elsie — Why, yes. Should I know you?

Bob — Why, Elsie, I'm surprised that you don't remember me. I'm your old "cellmate" — Oops! I mean your classmate, Bob Albert.

Elsie — What brings you here?

Bob — I just finished campaigning for Senator of Connecticut and thought that I would drop through South Windsor to see an old friend of mine. What are you doing these days?

Elsie — Why, I have just completed an eight-day engagement on Broadway starring in Dotty Norton's hilarious comedy Joe meets Go-Go.

Bob — Oh, yes. I remember reading about you in "Allen and Stardom" in the same issue that the Dale Moore Story appeared. Dale sings nightly at the Stork Club in New York City.

Elsie — Did you know that the "Allen and Stardom" magazine is edited by Elizabeth Allen? That's where the title came from. Her magazine is rated tops throughout the entire world. This is certainly a grand place to dine. I wonder who owns this place.

Bob — I thought you would have guessed by the name "Ronnie's". Ronnie Burnham owns this place. He built it himself, and all the modern interior decorations were created by Richard Lyman. Another one of our classmates, Rita Matulis, is noted for her marvelous cooking here at "Ronnie's".

Elsie — You probably won't believe it, but Jacquie Daly's taxi service brought me here. I guess chauffeuring the girls at E.M.H.S. just became a habit. She was telling me that Mike Dzen and Alex Sullivan have made headlines in the racing business. Both will be racing for the New England Championship next week at Riverside Park. Say — tell me about your campaigning.

Bob — I have been fairly successful. I've had a lot of help from Oliver Pelton, who — as you know — is president of Yale University. Remember the fellow who was always ready for a debate, Charles White — well, he is my opponent. He is running with the Republicans. Did you know that three of our classmates were back at Ellsworth with teaching positions? Ann Parent is still shooting baskets with her gym class, for she is Physical Education Director. I guess Lorraine McClatchey went on to college, but decided she just couldn't live without Ellsworth. She has replaced Mrs. Tapley, who was home economics teacher. Kathryn McCutcheon is kept quite busy as office secretary with the teachers' many demands for typewritten papers.

Elsie— Remember our class pilot, Doris Marks? She just flew Dotty Bancroft to Africa to look for rare animals. Dotty wants to give these rare animals to the Kreyssig Museum in Broad Brook.

Bob — Don't tell me Audrey Kressig has a museum? Another member has also made a great success in Broad Brook. Jimmy Howard, whom we all knew as a hot rod fan, owns one of the biggest motor sales in the United States. Ray Jarvis is his General Manager. I understand he is planning to establish sales departments in Boston.

Elsie — Speaking of Boston, I saw Janet Clifton modeling clothes for Nancy Page's fashion show at the Donahue Hotel, owned by our classmate Betty Donahue. Nancy created all of the styles for Janet to model. These clothes are all well made, for Betty Gilbert is Janet's top seamstress. She learned sewing more than fifteen years ago. After seeing the fashion show, I attended a solo concert given by Kathleen Holland. The public really likes her.

Bob — The townspeople of South Windsor are proud of their musical folks, too. A few of our class have done very well for themselves in music. Jack Christensen is very famous with his musical group here in New England, known as "Hot Shot Jack and his Musical Six". He is now appearing here at Ronnie's. Crazy man Jim Barry is at the drums, with Ray Durnez, Richard Hensel, Anthony Raulukaitis, Zigmond Rolocut, and Bob Sedar as Jack's musical six. You'd never believe this, but Ted Reichle is that heavenly crooner appearing with Jack. Bill "Tucker" Allen is the funny-man M.C.

Prophecy

Jack's following is made possible because of his publicity agent, Gordon Schortman. "Shorty" really comes up with great ideas.

Elsie — Speaking of Gordon's great ideas, Mildred Andrulat certainly had a fine idea when she established a hospital at Andrulat's Grove. As supervisor, Janet Stone keeps the patients in good health. Jim Reardon, head surgeon, has Donald Havens, a promising orthopedic doctor, as his assistant. Jim, a busy man, also has two full-time secretaries, Doris Pinney and Patty Krupienski. They say he keeps the two girls busy eight to twelve hours a day. Recently a show put on by two of our classmates toured Andrulat's Hospital. As you know, both of these girls are in the entertainment world. Ellen Booth, a famous singer, and Edna Weber, a great comedian, combined to give the patients of this hospital a most magnificent reproduction of the show that they do together on TV.

Bob — Oh, I read about their TV show the other day in that famous column of Claudette "Hedda" Begin. Others of our class have stepped into the path of journalism, too. For instance, Carol Greer, a famous book critics, recently reviewed Norma Pola's best-seller, How to Sell Magazines and Succeed. Jean Harrison is in line for the Nobel Prize in Literature mainly for her great novel, Give Us Liberty.

Elsie — I hate to break away from the subject, but I saw another one of our classmates In Webster's Bank and Trust. Janet Webster, owner of the bank, told me about the feats of the athletic members of our class. It seems that Gordon Snow is making a name for himself as a star with the New York Yankees. Liz McGill is now touring the country with her famous "All Stars". They have won 99% of the games played! The "All Stars" are seriously thinking of going abroad from what Janet told me. Already abroad with the Olympic Team is Charlie Dengler, who has set many records in the field of weight lifting. Could you ever guess who is in the field of art?

Bob — Of course. I'm not so dumb as I look. Carmine Jovino is currently cover artist for Life magazine. On a competing magazine are Shirley Petraitis and Yvette Cote. The girls are both rated with Carmine as the best cover artists in the country. One of our classmates, Virginia Ellsworth, is turning out the future greats of the country in her school, Ellsworth in Art.

Elsie — A few of the alumni are in business for themselves. Joe Chester never followed in the foosteps of his father, for Joe is now a house wrecker. However, Alden Collins did, as the Collins Bus Service is now expanding throughout other states. Betty Ann Loos now has her own wild west show. She always was a lover of horses. Oh! That tooth is acting up again. I'll have to see my dentist, Ray Hallowell. Of course you've heard of Painless Ray, the Smiling Dentist.

Bob — Of course.

Elsie — Ronald Yelle supplies Ray with all his orders for false teeth. I hear he is doing quite a business. (looking at Ray) No offense, Ray.

Bob — If you need a lawyer for that last remark, Elsie, look up Bob Sinsigalli. Bob is the best in the country. Did you know that two of our members went into crime work?

Elsie — Who are the criminals?

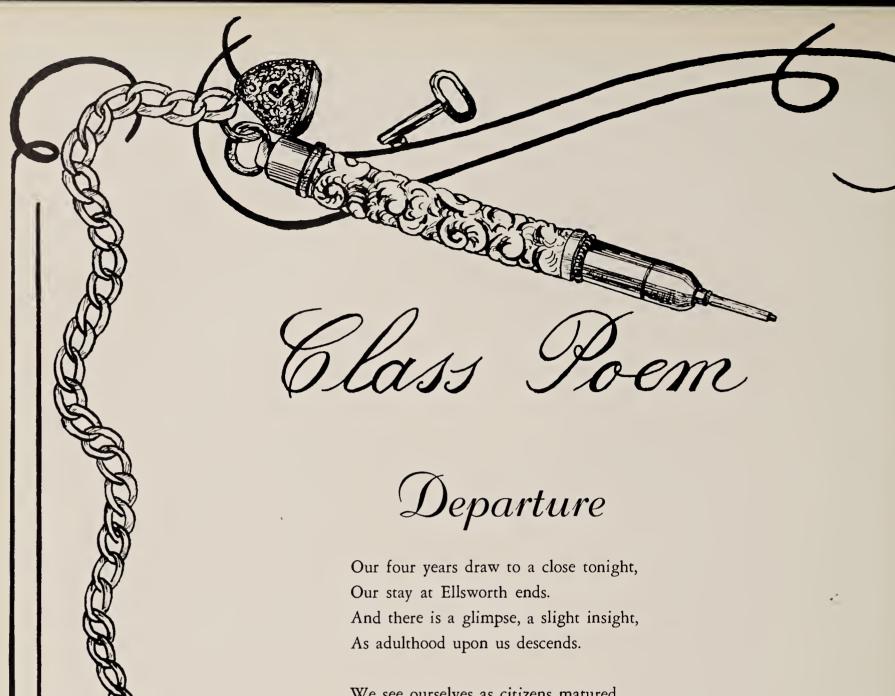

Bob — No, Elsie, these two are on the side of law and order. Pete Zaleski is commissioner of police here in South Windsor, while Annette Carter is chief of the policewomen's division.

Elsie — How long are you going to be in town?

Bob — Just for the day. I must leave for Washington to see the Secretary of State. The U.S. hasn't any more foreign problems with Claire Stolle at the head of the State Department. Does it seem possible that we have talked about all the members of the Class of '54? Our class certainly has been a successful one. Talking about our former class has brought back many enjoyable memories.

Elsie — Indeed it has. In ten years the class has really risen to fame. By the way, Bob, don't forget the class reunion next month. Perhaps we can meet again and share memories of our 1954 graduating class.

BOB ALBERT ELSIE PELTON

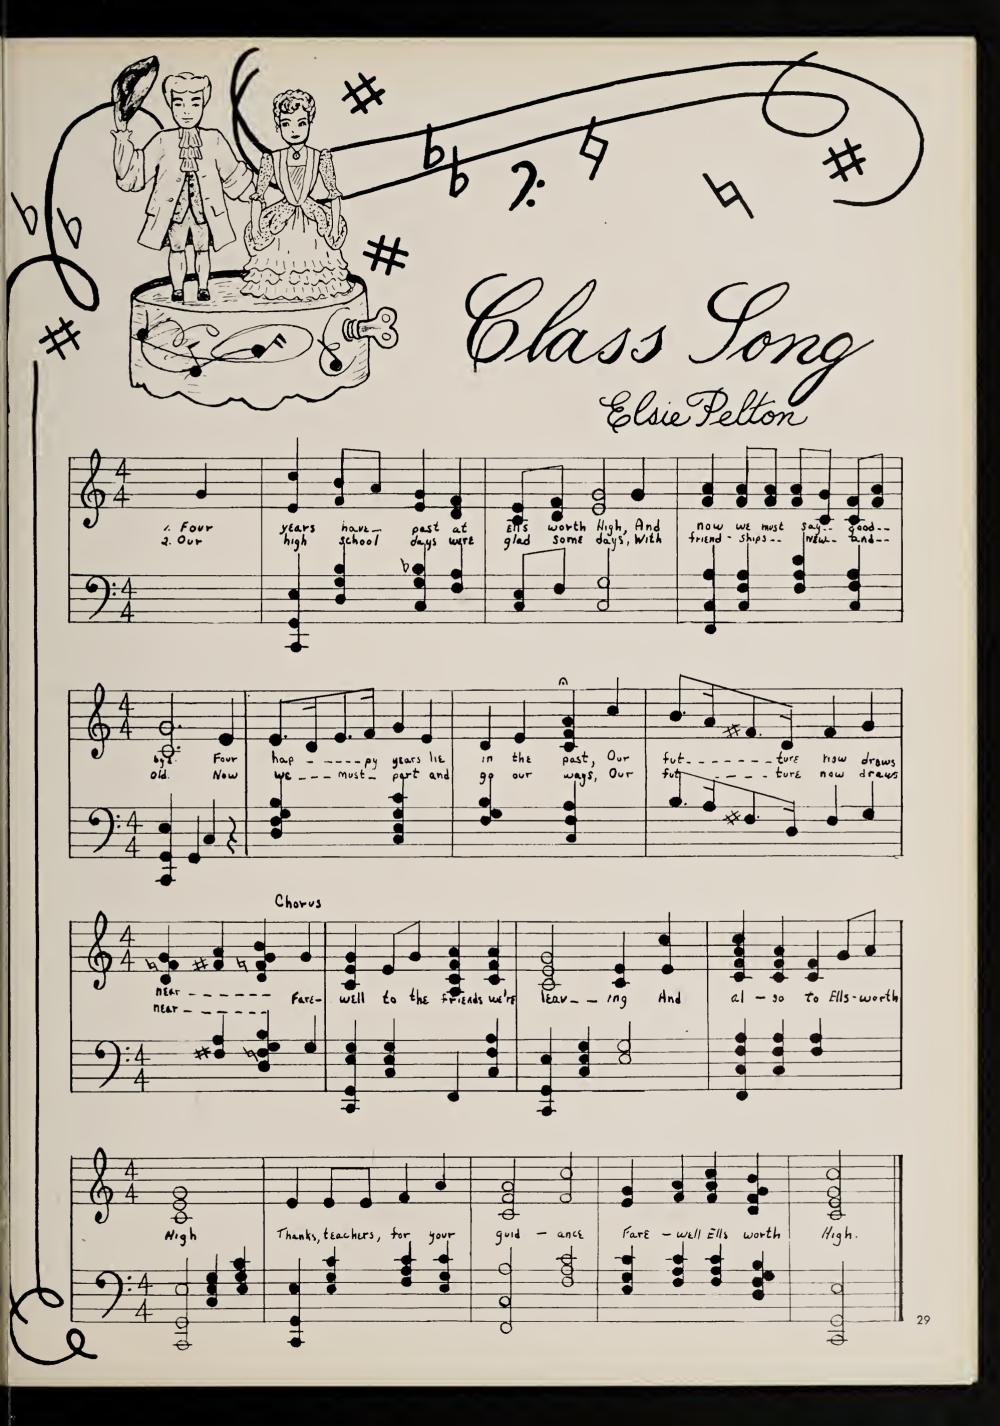

We see ourselves as citizens matured,
As doctors, teachers, and statesmen.
Remember how foolish and fickle we were?
It was high school that cured us then.

This glimpse is blurred, but now I see
Our instructors, how helpful their aid!
E'en though their forbearance oft' was tried,
Our foundation has been laid.

The classes I see more specifically,
Math, English, and P.A.D.
We were taught how to face life's many trials;
True Americans we were molded to be.

Alas, this glimpse of light grows dim; A spark of hope bursts to flame. Our stay at Ellsworth ends tonight, But may our friendship stay the same.

COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN

Student Council

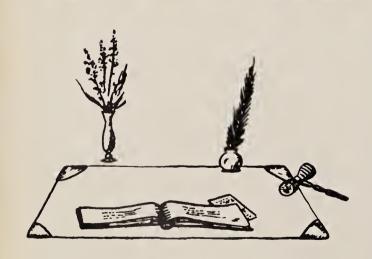

Our Student Council, the most important body in the school, consists of chairmen of the council committees, the class officers, council secretary, Betty Gilbert; council president, Jack Christensen; administrative assistant, Chester Drangenis; attendance taker and teller, Harvey Della Bernarda.

The president of the senior class automatically becomes president of the Student Council. The only voting members of the council are the class officers.

Through the Student Council students learn the principles of self-government, leadership, and fair play. Any student in the school may present his problem to the council for consideration, such as opening the magazine drive to the whole school.

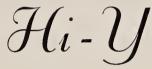

The council and its committees deal with problems created in school and all school functions outside of the classroom; for instance, an annual Thanksgiving basket drive for the under-privileged sponsored by the Welfare Committee and a freshman hop and dancing after basketball games sponsored by the Social Events Committee.

A Pops Concert is presented annually under the direction of Miss Antonina Dziob, in which every unit of the music department participates. To compensate for lack of dance time during the lunch periods this year, the twenty-seven piece orchestra entertained the entire student body for a forty-five minute dance assembly. The orchestra also played for a special Christmas Assembly, during regular assemblies, and, in the past for a victory dance after the last home game.

Each year four members are chosen from the chorus by the music director to represent Ellsworth at the All-State Concert in the fall. They are left to right: Elsie Pelton, Lee Bahler, Robert McClatchey, and Suzanne Ordway.

Steadily increasing under the direction of Miss Antonina Dziob is the E.M. H. S. band, which has appeared at home basketball games, pep assemblies, Memorial Day parades, and Pops Concerts.

The band, led by Majorette Jacqueline Daly, has had forty members or more for the last three years.

The band, led by Majorette Jacqueline Daly, has had forty members or more for the last three years. The band now owns three trombones, one sousaphone, Eb bass, baritone, Eb sax, a full drum set, and chimes. The money for these instruments was raised at the annual Pops Concert. The band also owns maroon, gold, and white uniforms for all its members.

The Social Crafts, Home Economics clubs, nicknamed S. C. H. E., consists of students who are now or were at one time students in home economics. The year was again started by a Big Sister party, given to introduce freshmen taking home economics to the club and to give them a feeling of belonging. With seventy or more members the S. C. H. E. holds its meetings in the cafeteria. This year the S. C. H. E. has had many projects, including making wax candles, Christmas cards, and other Christmas decorations. Over thirty dollars worth was sold.

A Christmas basket of toys and other gifts was presented to the Hartford County Temporary Home by the S. C. H. E. members. This is just another example of the fine work done by our future home
